The power of connection

How digital collaboration enables speed and agility

Managing your supplier network can require hours of emails and phone calls each week, with mind-numbing data entry leading to frustrating inaccuracies that create unnecessary risks

Or it can be an automated process that delivers real-time, accurate information on demand

What's the difference between these experiences?

A supplier business network

Save days with Eka Supplier Connect

Without Supplier Connect

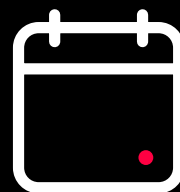

- The suppliers provide a pricing request via email
- The company analyzes the request
- If the price is not correct, the company will email the supplier and note that the price has not been accepted
- The supplier receives the email and can evaluate it and send a different price via email
- The company reviews the email and responds that the price has been accepted
- Pricing is triggered in the CTRM system
- Pricing confirmation is sent to the supplier in an email attachment

With Eka Supplier Connect

- Supplier submits the pricing request into the portal
- The company receives an alert that the has been submitted and can read the price request in the portal and accept or reject it
- The supplier receives an alert that their request is accepted or rejected by the company
- If it's rejected, the supplier can enter a different price in the portal – again triggering an alert
- Once the price is accepted, the supplier can see the price is accepted in the portal
- Price entry will be created automatically in the CTRM
- The price confirmation will available to the supplier through the portal

Features

1 ▶

Provide suppliers real-time updates on contracts, invoices, prices, and more

2

Let suppliers create contracts and view payment statuses while tracking deliveries, positions, and invoices

3

Publish prices online, manage the supplier database, and confirm online contracts written by suppliers

4

Track unpriced contracts with a complete view of pricing status across all contracts

Benefits

1 ▶

Improve service levels and supplier loyalty

2

Self-service portal reduces the manual effort required to service requests and inquiries related to price, scheduling, delivery, etc.

This eliminates the need for multiple calls, emails and faxes to give and receive updates, improving service quality

Increase efficiency

Business partners can upload or view documents, orders, and balances and conduct negotiations online

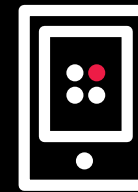

This makes it easier for both parties to secure contracts, reducing overhead and freeing support staff to focus on higher-value activities

Gain greater visibility and communication

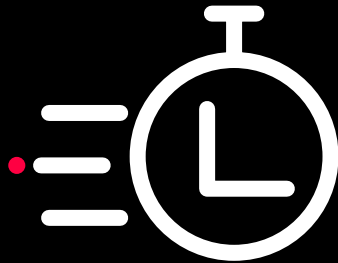

The company and its suppliers have one accurate shared view of data

This visibility, combined with alerts and notifications for both parties, enables better supply chain performance and improved inter-company interactions

React faster to market disruptions

By automating communication with suppliers, Supplier Connect reduces the latency of information sharing, enabling companies to make faster decisions

Improve compliance controls

Automating manual tasks creates a comprehensive audit trail. It enables analytics on all available data and facilitates more informed decisions around selecting counterparties
